

View this email in your browser

May 2017

News from IPVS

Some news from IPVS

Dear IPVS members,

I am happy to get back to you after our fabulous Conference in Cape Town! This was an outstanding meeting that far exceeded our expectations. I want to once again thank our host - Anna Lise, Ed and all the "local organizing committee" members for their hard work and enthusiasm. You did a great job!

Most important was the possibility to interact with our colleagues from the African region. I was so pleased walking through the halls seeing my old friends but also many new faces, young researchers, crowded conference rooms, round tables occupied by small gatherings discussing new and old projects, hundreds of posters with people requesting even more hours of exhibition!

The whole experience was great!

Further to the development of new initiatives and achievements such as the "HPV Awareness Day" and the "Declaration on the Prevention of Human Papillomavirus Disease " presented in Cape Town, the IPVS is now working on implementing its strategic plan, reinforcing leadership of younger researchers, building a solid educational program and taking advantage of our new website to increase and improve the communication with all IPVS members.

Sydney is our next big event scheduled for October 2018. I am glad to let you know that with Karen Canfell and colleagues in Australia we already have developed a fantastic set of ideas to keep all of you interested in making the next meeting fabulous. IPVC 2018 will be organized in collaboration with the Asia-Oceania Research organisation in Genital Infection and Neoplasia (AOGIN) colleagues. The joint venture promises to bring more delegates from the Region and will provide further insight on technologies and initiatives taking place in this dynamic geographical area.

Finally, I am pleased to announce that Barcelona has been nominated as the site for the IPV-2020 conference. You can imagine how honored we are to be able to accommodate IPVC again after 20 years in our lovely city.

Silvia de Sanjosé
IPVS President

HPV 2017 in Cape Town
1302 delegates gathered for the 1st HPV Conference in Africa!

[!\[\]\(de95854c7ee024cfadc48187bbb781b2_img.jpg\) Read the conference report](#)

HPV 2017 webcasts are now available on IPVS website, exclusively for IPVS members!

[!\[\]\(c50c8b7b2cc2cf9ff925edec0ee94c0d_img.jpg\) View HPV 2017 webcasts here](#)

IPVS held its General Assembly in Cape Town, during HPV 2017.

[!\[\]\(e3275251d0893157c3584e20c81dc3ba_img.jpg\) View article and more pictures here](#)

IPVS announces the launch of the HPV Awareness Day Initiative in Cape Town. The first edition will take place on March 4th 2018!

+ Read the article here

IPVS Policy Committee provides a statement on behalf of IPVS on guidelines for vaccination of immunocompromised hosts.

+ Read the statement

IPVS attends the HPV Vaccine Expert Group Meeting in Washington to discuss HPV Vaccine policy, research and prevention.

+ Read the article here

Make sure to save the date for the upcoming IPVC 2018 in Sydney, 2-6 October 2018!

+ Join us in Sydney!

The IPVS Board voted for Barcelona as the destination for IPVC 2020! Congratulations to Barcelona!

IPVS is offering exclusive benefits to IPVS members to publish in the PVR Journal: The official Journal of the International Papillomavirus Society!

+ Read more here!

Forward

Visit our website: www.ipvsoc.org

Copyright © 2017 International Papillomavirus Society, All rights reserved.
You are receiving this email because you are a member of the IPVS for the year 2017.

Our mailing address is:

International Papillomavirus Society

7 rue François Versonnex

Geneva 1207

Switzerland

Add us to your address book

Want to change how you receive these emails?

You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list